Baltimore's Spectacular Meeting. BALTIMORE, Md., October 13 .- A total BALTIMORE, Md., October 13.—A total of $20,400,000 was subscribed at a monster rally here last night in the interest of the liberty loan. The subscriptions ranged from $50 to $3,500,000. The meeting was spectacular. At the conclusion of a speech urging every one of the 22,000 persons present to buy a liberty loan bond, United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois called on those present to come up and subscribe. The Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company led off with $3,500,000, and was followed by the Fidelity Trust Company, with $3,000,000.

"God Almights of the day in the band enlisted voluntarily to answer the challenge to democracy. To a man they are ready to stand behind the guns of the fleet and respond to the hardest blows Prussianism can deliver. Into the bandsmen this spirit is instilled.

Besides the great patriotic purpose to which the band is committed, an added feature of all parades is the drum major, "Monk" Tennant, whose stride is said to make the goose-step of the Prussian look like the shuffle of a chain gang. One of the buglers in the band says of him: "There isn't a peacock in the land that can show in his class," and Washingtonians probably will agree with this estimate of the drum major.

Youth is one of the predominating features of the organization. Those who yesterday witnessed the band as it played in front of the District building were struck with the boyish features of the 250 musicians. "Why, they're only children," more than one spectator exclaimed. And so they are. From Lleut, John Philip Sousa, who declares he feels younger by thirty years when leading the bluefackets, to "Monk" Tennant, twenty-three years of age, every man radiates youth. The

When last April this country was When last April this country was plunged into war, Sousa, who had retired as an active bandmaster two years before, stepped forward and gave his services to the Navy and was appointed head of the Great Lakes band. Bandmasters Tainter and Maurice and Capt. William A. Moffett, U. S. N., had developed the organization to a point where it was the greatest in the Navy, and, with Sousa at the head, it seemed to take on new life, a great increase in the specified number of enlistments, for musicians being noted. Capt. Moffett says of Sousa:

"Certainly when he moves across the drill grounds he seems to become the human personification of the music he controls."

controls."

In the opinion of Capt. Moffett there is not a more useful unit at the Great Lakes station than the band proves to be. Its music puts rhythm into the legs of raw recruits and helps to turn awkward boys into soldierly blue-jankets.

SENDS PICTURE OF SICK WAR ORPHANS IN FRANCE

Mme. Blanche J. Bimont Tells in a Letter of Work in the Maison Familiale.

ern High School teacher, who went to Trance to work in the Maison Familale, the institution for the care of sick war orphans, sent to The Star a picture of the children in the institution.

Many Washington donors contributed to a fund which Mme. Bimont used to buy beds and bedding for the hospital when she went to France. She is to return soon to this country. She writes "Just a glimpse of our little ones who are so adorable and whom I hate to leave in a few days. Although young, for the most part, they fully realize what our American friends have done for them, and what they are doing. You should see their American flag and all that came to them from America, beds, clothes and toys, and how dear these are to them! How comforting to the heroic fathers, who so valiantly died to see their children so happy!

"Thanks to America and American friends, we can help France to pay a part of the lebt contracted toward French children. Once more and in the reach children. Once wore and in the name of both committees (the Washington and Paris committees of the Orphillnat des Armees) I thank you for your help."

Mme. Bimont adds that she still is in possession of a number of receipts which she will bring with her to this country for delivery upon application to persons who failed to give their addresses in making contributions.

Order Your Car Get It—The Same Day!

Ordinarily people must wait days - often weeks - before closed car orders are delivered.

But a progressive factory policy has provided Overland closed cars this season in advance of the demand.

Consequently you can order your car - and get it - the same day.

And they are beauties—Springfield Type sides open entirely from end to end and may be easily and quickly closed as tight as a limousine.

But they were produced with materials bought in the low cost market of months ago and at remarkably low manufacturing cost on account of the enormous order they were part of.

It probably will be a long time before such luxurious cars can again be produced to sell at such low prices.

We'll be glad to show them to
